

Embracing the Sacred

Advanced Photography Retreat

With Carl Studna RScP, MA

I will be offering an advanced, intimate, hands-on photography retreat at my mountain studio this summer (about 45 minutes from Denver). The retreat will cover all of the elements of the "Revealing the Sacred" class I've previously offered while going deeper in how we open our field of perception to the inner and outer light.

Included:

- Nature walks on pristine horse trails
- Orientation and hands-on experience with studio lighting
- Practice using photography as a meditation
- Expanded shooting possibilities using a tripod
- Feeling into each sacred moment of the CLICK
- Enhance your portrait and scenic vision
- Optional sleepover amidst the Rockies' natural beauty

We will review how to shoot in manual mode, giving you a greater understanding of how the camera works allowing you to get more shots that actually match what your inner vision sees and is wishing to convey. You will be given the personal support to ensure that you gain the clarity and comfort needed to use this marvelous instrument in a way that anchors you in greater familiarity, allowing you to fully express your unique vision.

Join me and explore the beauty and rich opportunities within this most wonderful medium. Registration is limited and ends on June 15th.

All The Best,
Carl Studna
